

Welcome to the East Sac Scavenger Hunt!

Let's go on an adventure.

Below is a list of clues that will lead you to cool items, locations, oddities, or just regular sightings in East Sacramento. Maybe you can find them all in one weekend, or perhaps you check them off over time. Walk in a new direction each day and you're sure to find something new.

In the time of COVID-19, we're all looking for ways to connect and learn more about our communities. Just remember to physically distance, wear a mask, and do not trespass onto private property. Any houses below were listed with permission. Please be respectful of noise and privacy. Do not disturb tenants.

Other than that, have fun! If you think of more ideas for future scavenger hunts or want to share a story about your adventure, contact Stephanie at soulbellystories@gmail.com.

- A water fountain in the middle of an intersection (48th & M)
- A three-story mural of California poppies (Sutter Park)
- A nighttime light show (McKinley Village underpass)
- The former governor's mansion (1341 45th St.)
- A giant ice cream cone next to a pink bench (39th St. south of D)
- The highest elevation in Sacramento (William Land's tomb, East Lawn)
- A poetry tree stump (F St. east of 52nd St.)
- A colorful front yard hippo (46th St. between J & M)
- The Henry Moreno memorial bench (East Portal Park)
- The Coloma Terrace and Meister Terrace street signs (Can you find more neighborhood signs?)
- The fairy houses in the trees (McKinley Park)
- 3 neon green "Slow!" kid's playing signs
- The mushroom cap at Bertha Henschel Park (What color is it?)

- ❑ A free little library that looks exactly like its house (46th and F)
- ❑ A giant praying mantis (53rd St. south of Folsom Blvd.)
- ❑ A beautiful backyard garden where a front yard usually is...hmmm. (53rd St. south of H)
- ❑ 2 cul-de-sacs (Yes, they do exist in East Sac!)
- ❑ The stunning Guy West Bridge at Sac State
- ❑ 2 unpaved dirt streets (Hint: check 44th and B)
- ❑ A floral telephone pole (44th St. north of H)
- ❑ The floral 'East Sac' mural by Tyson Anthony Roberts (34th St. north of Stockton Blvd.)
- ❑ The marker for the former New Helvetia Cemetery (Alhambra and J)
- ❑ The 'bus friends' bench (36th & McKinley)
- ❑ Add your own flora to the new 'Nature Loom' at Sac State's arboretum (hang right at J St. entrance)
- ❑ A plaque commemorating Solander's soda fountain (Alhambra and F)
- ❑ The big sculptures of Chinatown Alley (west of Alhambra Blvd.)
- ❑ A three-story birdhouse (Alhambra & Blues Alley)
- ❑ An 'X marks the spot' sculpture (Taylor & Meister)
- ❑ 3 sightings of this stained glass window design (they're everywhere!)

